

Observing International Universal Health Coverage Day 2021

The International Universal Health Coverage Day is observed on 12 December to raise awareness of the need for strong and resilient health systems and universal health coverage and achieve health and well-being for all by 2030.

By uniting with everyone, Developing Midwives Project also observed the day to raise the voice with the theme “Leave No One’s Health Behind: Invest in health systems for all.” To celebrate the event this year, the Project engaged students of seven academic sites for poster presentation. The students of each academic site formed small groups comprising 6/7 students and reviewed the UHC related literature and the importance of the day and made posters and presented their views and key information in the form of posters among the fellow students, teachers and management staff members.
